

A New Long-Term Care Manifesto

Robert L. Kane, MD* Division of Health Management and Policy, University of Minnesota School of Public Health, Minneapolis.

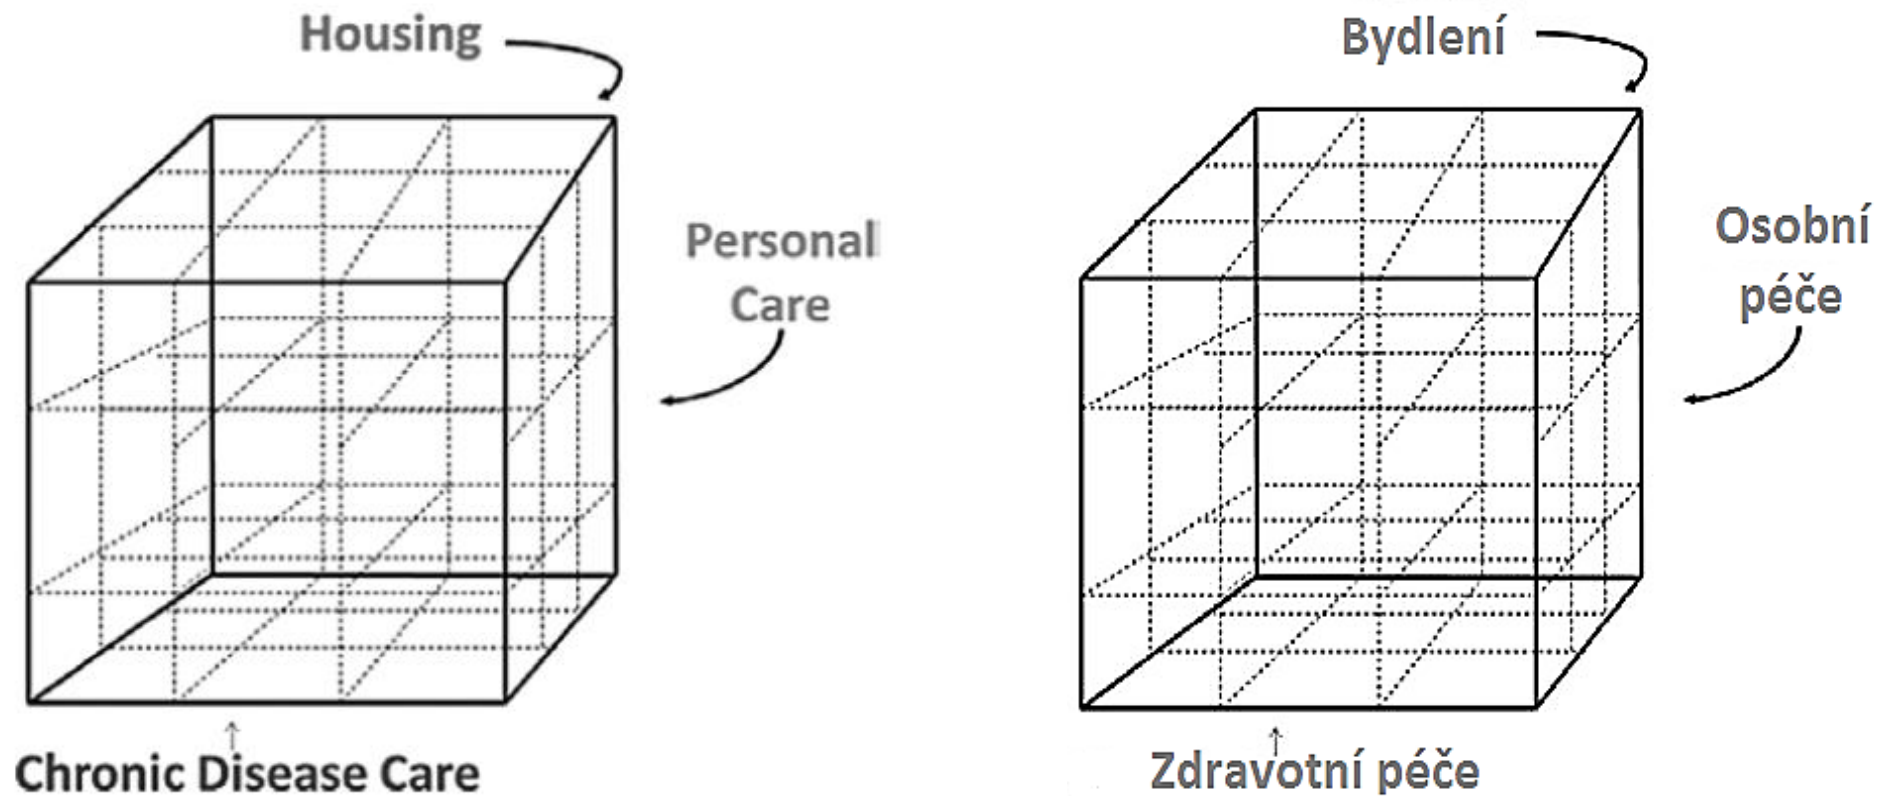

Figure 1. A conceptual model of long-term care.

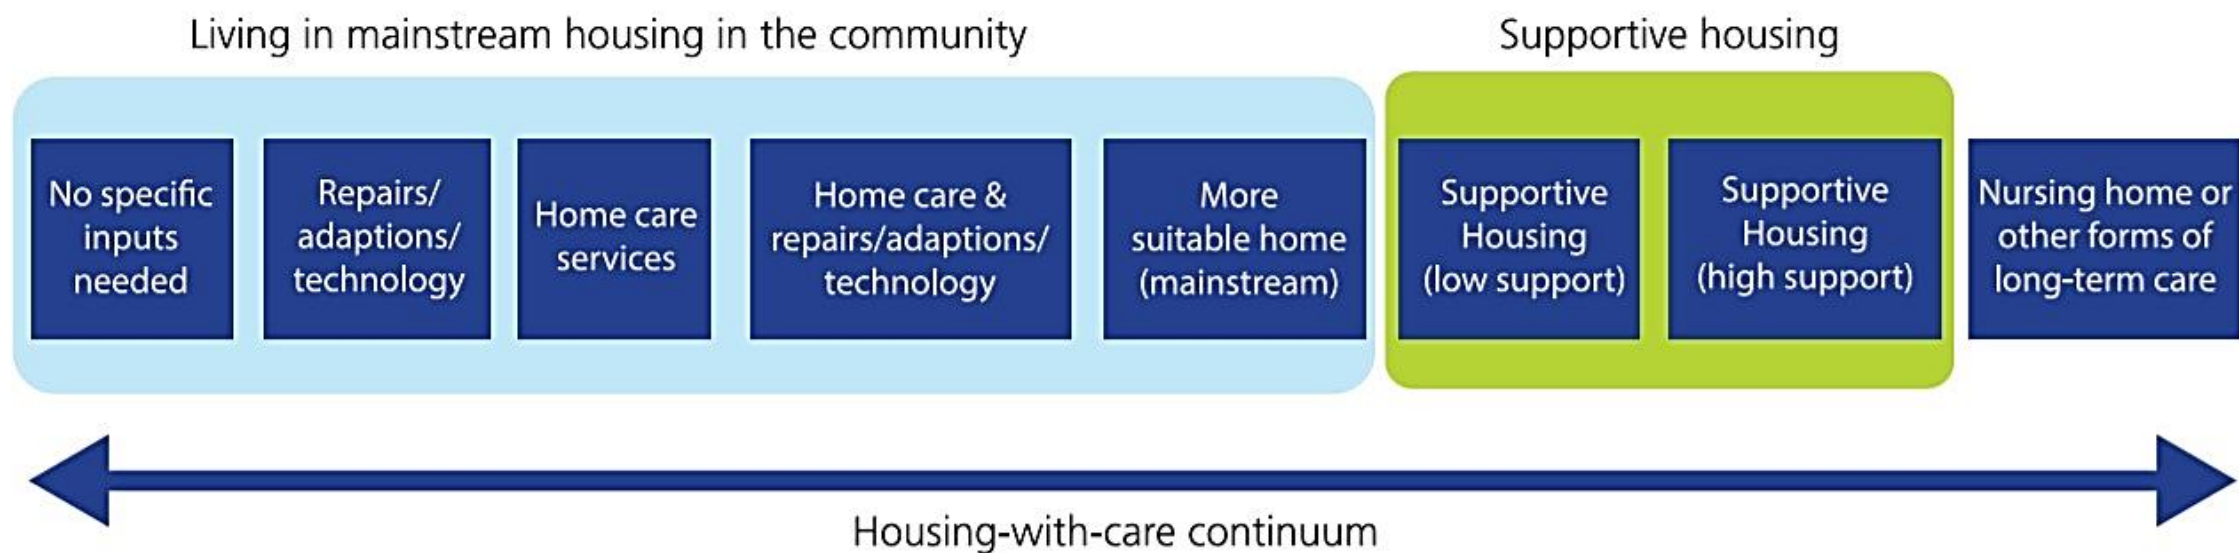

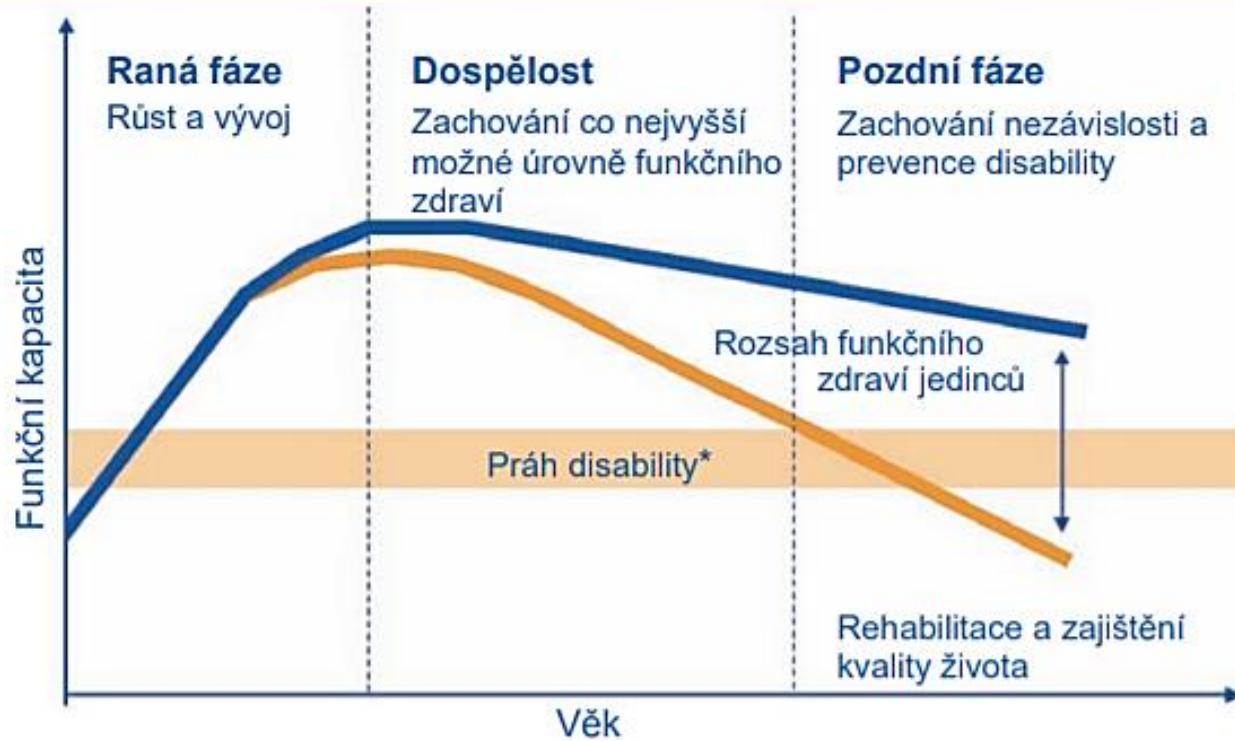

FIGURE 2

Cullen et al. (2007) suggest that many older people can adequately live in mainstream housing; however, a move to 'supportive housing' may be required in certain instances.

Obr. 4. Udržení funkčního zdraví v průběhu života

Zdroj: Kalache & Kickbusch (12).

mainstream housing

Individual homes to buy or rent - not designated for any specific user group though Lifetime Homes includes age-friendly features and wheelchair housing is specifically designed. Personal care, support, other services and amenities available within the community.

specialised housing

Groups of homes (usually flats) to buy or rent - designated for older people (typically 55+). Personal care and support usually arranged or provided within the development together with shared facilities and activities.

specialised housing

Residential care rather than independent living.

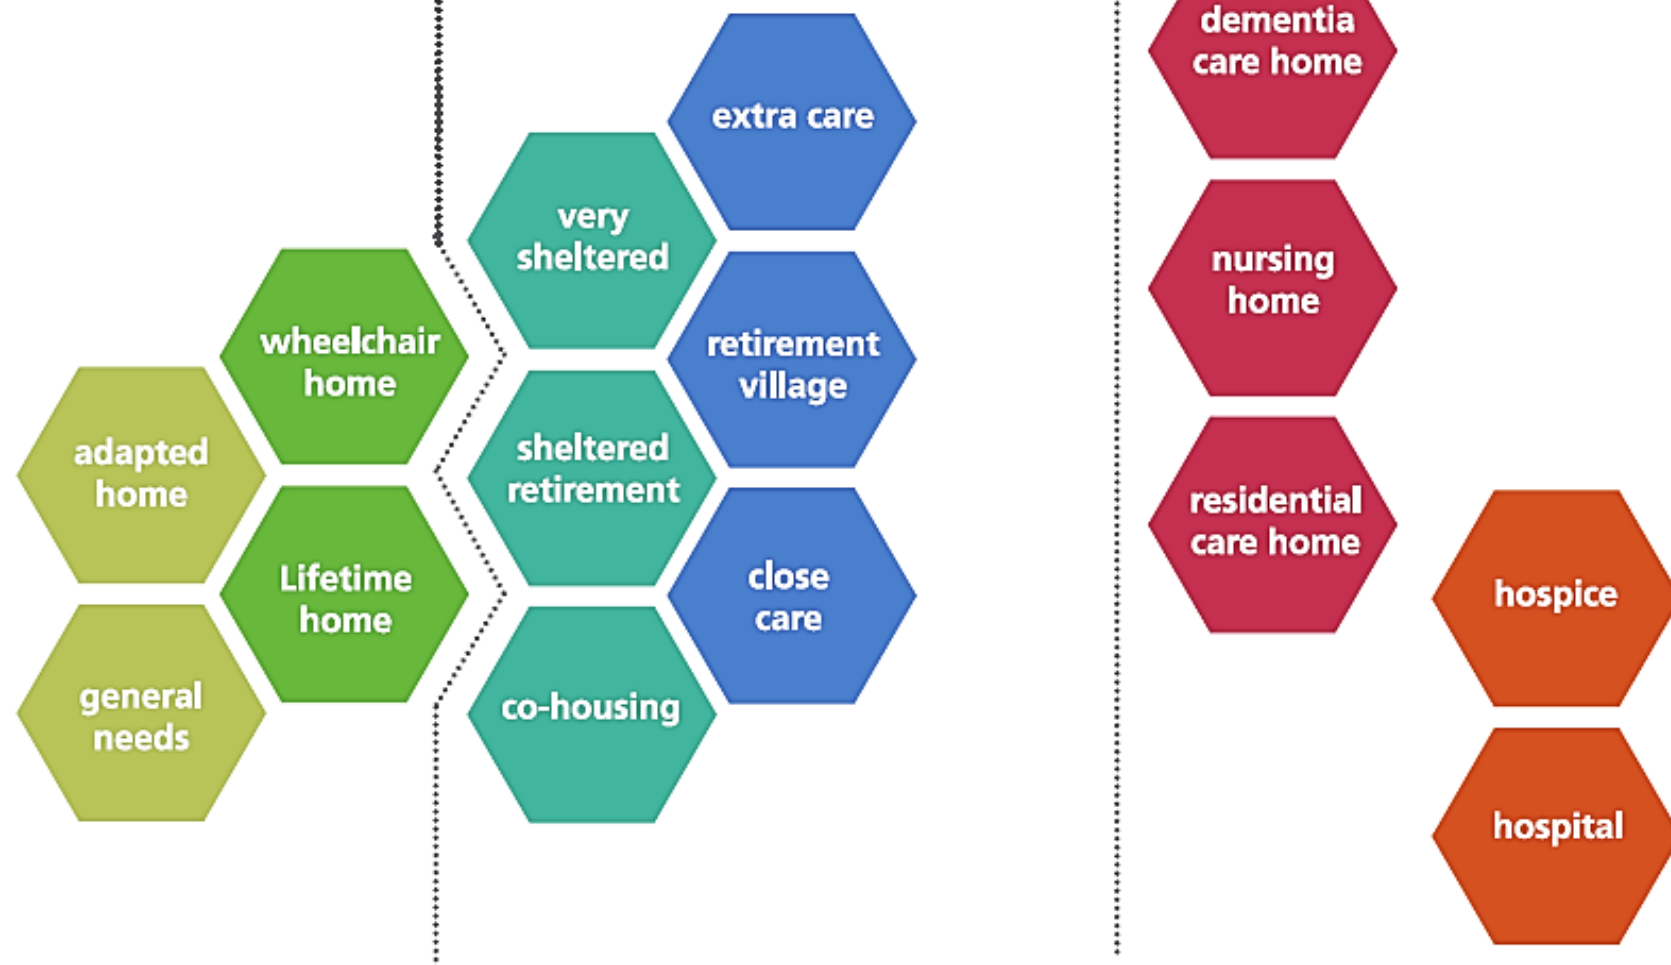

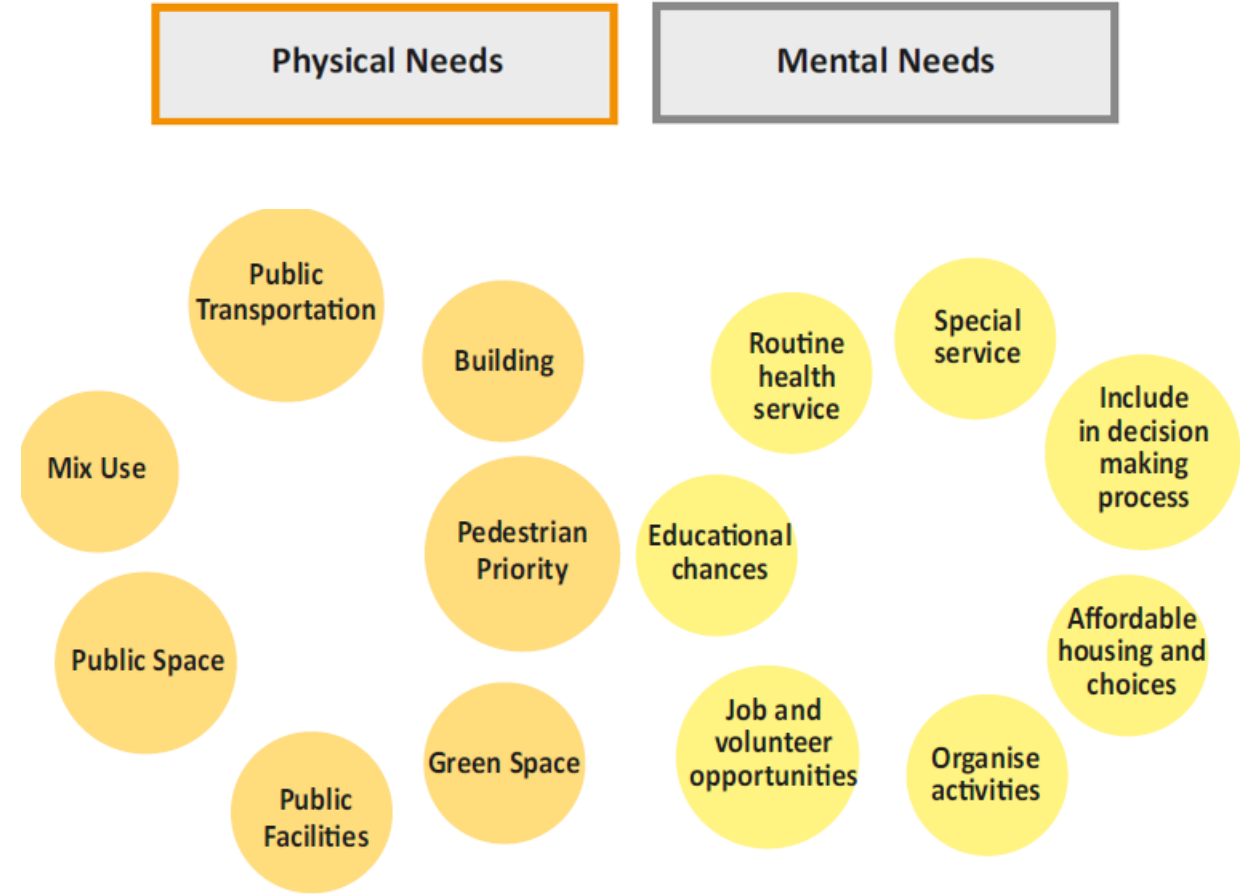

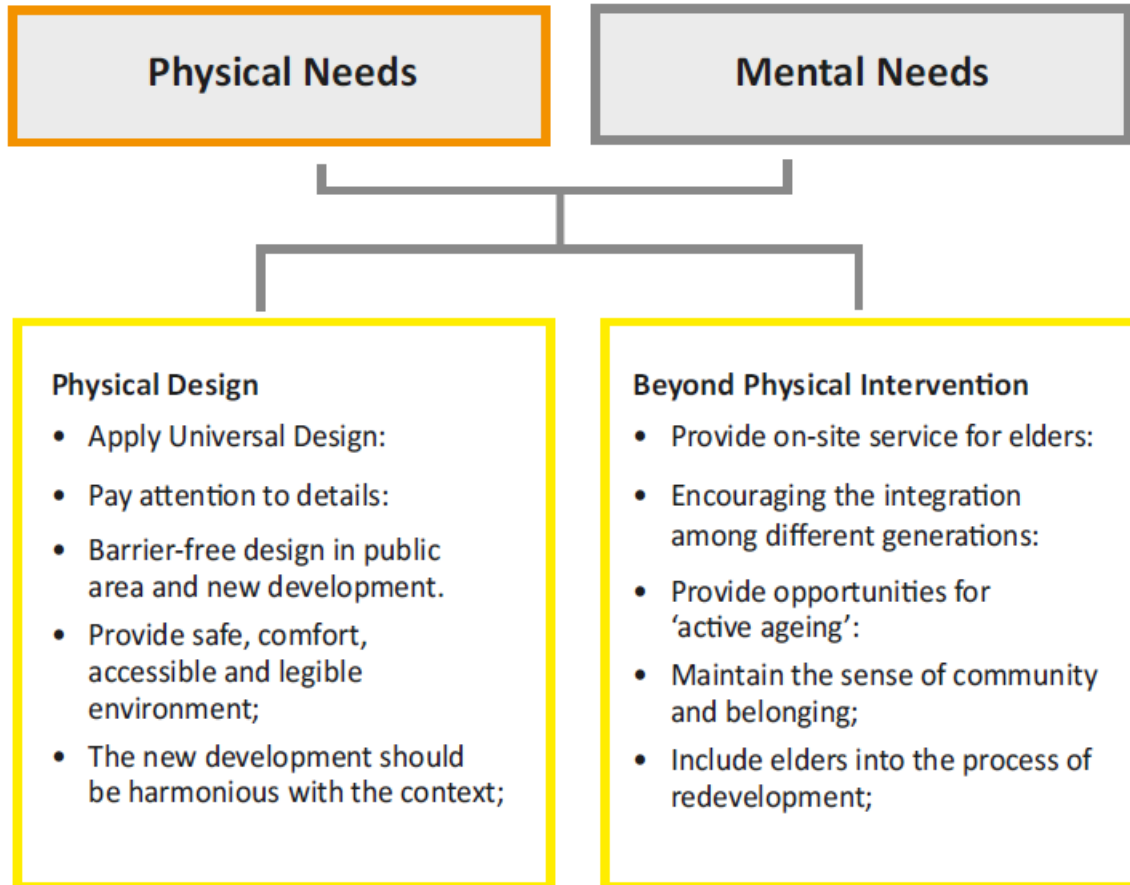

FIGURE 4

Older Peoples Housing Continuum (SOURCE: HAPPI Report: Housing our Ageing Population-Panel for Innovation, UK,2009).

LIFETIME HOMES, LIFETIME NEIGHBOURHOODS
A National Strategy for Housing in an Ageing Society

Housing for Older People:
Future Perspectives

Executive Summary

Globální města přátelská seniorům: Průvodce

Global Age-friendly Cities: A Guide

